At Total ID, we understand how important it is to reduce our carbon footprint and do our part for the environment. That's why we offer these high-quality biodegradable lanyards as an eco-friendly alternative to traditional polyester lanyards.

What is RPET? RPET is recycled polyethylene terephthalate. It is made of recycled PET that can come from either Post-consumer or Post-Industrial sources. Our lanyards are manufactured from recycled plastic bottles.

Custom printed lanyards are an excellent choice for staff in companies and organisations looking to display their brand in a secure and affordable way. They also help build a sense of unity amongst your staff whilst raising the profile of your brand outside of the workplace.

They are not only a perfect choice for staff but also for any events where you want to increase brand exposure including festivals, sporting events, charity days & conferences.
